“ Our Class of 1977 from Chestnut Hill Hospital loved Jean. She came to several of our reunion luncheons and this photo is from 2012. She was a great instructor and role model for all her students. We will miss you Miss Bradley! Give Mrs. Simpson a hug from the Class of '77!

“ Jean was my instructor at Chestnut Hill Hospital School of Nursing. After graduation we worked together for a few years at the hospital in the ICU where she taught the nursing students. Whenever my parents were patients at the hospital Jean always saw them and made sure everything was just perfect for them. She also gave that same loving to one of my classmates and best friend while she battled ALS. Jean was always there for everyone, freely giving of herself. Prior to the pandemic I had lunch with Jean and another former student/co-worker of Jean's. It was so great to see her again. She never changed- always concerned with others. Heaven has certainly gained an angel!

“ Jean and i have been good friends for years and I will miss her dearly. She was always helping others including my family. My mom who was in a wheel chair and needed transportation and lots of help so my family could attend my oldest daughter's wedding, Aunt Jean my kids called her, picked her up at the house, stayed with her for wedding and returned her home. This is one of the many things Jean did for family and friends!
God Bless Jean and her family.
