Just learned about the death of my cousin, Bobby Howley. The last time our families got together, where I was present, was in 1967. We were both very young, Bobby 11 years, and I 16 years old. My parents had made annual visits, since moving to California in 1955, and I remember walks in the woods near Bobby's home and finding a huge tadpole, when wading up a small stream. I am sorry to have not kept in contact as my parents had made a visit in 1973, while I was in the Army.
